Basic Steps to Conservation Planning

Questions to ask at the start:

- · What is the problem?
- Where is the solution area?
- Who should be involved?
- What are the common interests? Individual expectations? Shared vision? Criteria for success?
- How does everyone stay informed about the effort?

Monitor/Evaluate

(both partnership and on-the-ground results)

Questions to ask regularly throughout process:

- Are expected on-the-ground results being achieved?
- Is the problem different than originally percieved?
- Is geographic scope still appropriate?
- · Who else should be involved?
- Have interests, expectations, or common vision changed?
- Is everyone staying informed about the effort?
